Discusses the Chinese and Nicaragua

LONDON, Feb. 19 .- United States Ambassador Choate saw the secretary of state for foreign affairs, the Marquiz of Lansdowne, at London, to-day, and discussed canal matter. Mr. Choate was informed i that both these features would be fully discussed at a Cabinet meeting to be held Feb. 22, and Lord Lansdowne hoped to be able to communicate to Mr. Choate something definite immediately after the meet-

Lord Lansdowne's notification to Mr. Choate may safely be taken as an indication that the British government does not desire to force the Chinese and Nicaraguar question to an issue any earlier than is absolutely necessary. It is understood that the United States ambassador was responsible for bringing up the Nicaraguan mat-ter, pointing out how short a time was left for an answer before the lapsing of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. The reply of Lord Lansdowne did not by any means positively pledge the British Cabinet to make a decion, although it indicated that the United states might expect that so far as the Nicaraguan question was concerned any further consideration on the part of the Cabinet would be merely informal, as the Judge John F. Rend, an Aged Member foreign Office has known the nature of the reply for some weeks, which will not vary from the forecast already made in these dispatches.

China, however, is another matter. The Fereign Office appears genuinely in the cark as to the real significance of Count von Wadersee's latest orders. Testimony of Independent Anthracite Coal Operators.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.-The subcommittee on transportation of the industrial commission examined John C. Haddock, president of the Plymouth Coal Company, today. The witness defined an independent coal operator as one who disposed of his own coal on contracts made in advance. He said the profit on anthracite coal mined by concerns affiliated with railroad companies had increased year by year and, under existing conditions, it pays better for the independent operator to sell to a railroad than to bring the coal to tiderailroads had been facilitated early in the seventies by the outlawry of the Mollie Maguires, which had made it unpleasant witness recalled that in 1884-5, operators were able to find transportation for the the small operators to "go the way others have gone before.' Henry S. Fleming, secretary and treasaccept interest and made the finder a "Independent" operators, gave evidence. He said independent operators last year produced 34 per cent. of the hard coal sold. This had fallen to 20 per cent. this year, He said many of the smaller operators had sold out. The witness said that most of the members of his association sold their coal to large coal companies, not to the railroads. He did not think there was any discrimination against the independent operators in the control of cars. He said the members of the association are generally signing the new contracts in which the roads agree to pay 65 per cent. of the tidewater price. He said they found this a saying, as it did away with New York of-fices. Witness thought the contracts give

Reports from American Consuls.

In a report to the State Department on the ribbon trade of St. Etienne, Consul Brunot says: "Just as surely as American iron products-bridges, machinery, etc., have found a permanent market in Europe, so will American silks and other textile goods; and the time has almost arrived."

Imitations of American goods in Sweden are doing great harm to the American trade, says Consul Bergh, at Gothenburg. in a report to the State Department. He says that inferior forks are sold by wholesale in Gothenberg as American product at a price much lower than the genuine American fork. That is only one sample of the many German imitations offered for sale in Sweden and represented to be "best American goods." The effect is that the buyers soon discover that they have bought articles not worth the money and blame the American manufacturers. The consul says that the practice causes prejudice against everything of American make.

According to Consul Covert at Lyons, an article on the silk industry of the world recently published in a French trade paper, shows that the United States is likely to take the lead among the silk producers of the world. During the last three years the consumption of raw silk in the United States has exceeded that of France. The for the rank of military ensign.
